ABOUT ME

I am an aspiring web, game and mobile app developer with a strong interest in developing my skills in the IT field. I love turning ideas into interactive experiences through coding, UI/UX design, or creative problem-solving. I've gained foundational skills in coding, software development, and critical problem solving, and I enjoy collaborating with others to solve problems and deliver results. I take initiative, learn fast, and stay adaptable in fast-paced environments. I aim to join an organization where I can add value while growing my professional skills and knowledge.
